

Back Links With Image Directories

Let's say you're a home painter, if you have great pictures of your work or houses you can offer these images for free (or even paid if they're good enough) in exchange for a backlink on a stock image site. Depending on the license you assign to the images as well, others may link back to you as well.

This is one of the easier ways to get backlinks to your site and you won't have a lot of control over where your image is placed and how it is backlinked but nonetheless it is an option.
